HORRIDES MURDER IN PHILADEL-PHIA.—The Philadelphia papers of Monday give the following particu-lars of a most horrible murder which was committed in that city the previ-ous day, a brief account of which was she was about making the house secure for the night. The girl giving the alarm, Mrs. Hill's son-in-law, a man named George Twitchell, came down stairs in an unconcerned way, and expressing no particular surprise at seeing the venerable lady's dead body, assisted the servant in carrying it into the house. News of the territude of this neighbors have been violently assaulted at night, and that these neighbors are in daily fear of their lives. That he has offered a white man of good character, who is willing to swear to the fact, $500 to kill a certain well-known citizen of it into the house. News or the ble affair had, in the meantime, spread through the neighborhood, and a highly excited crowd gathered around the house. Police officers were soon on the ground, and Twitchell and his wife were arrested on suspicion of the crime. Mrs. on suspicion of the crime. Mrs. on suspicion of the crime the State of the said gang. Fosket has not given bail. These arrests were made by Deputy State Constable Kennedy, assisted by his special deputies, D. W. Christain and Noah Corley.

The room where the supposed mur-The room where the supposed mur-der was committed is magnificently furnished, and the entire premises show all the evidences of refinement and wealth. A sofa under the win-dow is covered with blood, and the act was evidently committed upon it. From the sofa trails of blood reached into the part room, and the window of

From the sofa trails of blood reached into the next room, and the window of the room is marked by bloody finger prints, showing where the victim was precipitated into the court below. Alongside of the sofa, in the inner room, was found a poker covered with blood and hair.

The prisoner, Twitchell, will give no account of the affair further than that the lady committed suicide by jumping out of the window. All the evidence is against this view of the case, however, and the crowds which visited the premises last evening were of the unanimous opinion that a vile murder had been committed. Mrs.

TREASURY ESTIMATES.—"Data," of the Baltimore Sun, in his despatch to that journal from Washington, says:

"The estimates of expenditures of the Secretary of the Treasury for the next fiscal year, ending June 30, 1870, will be from forty to fifty millions ready for opening to foreign trade as soon as the conference between the authorities and the foreign consuls came to an end. Nagati and Hakodadi had been seized by the Southern is indicated at present. Last year the estimates for the expenses of the Navy Department were placed at thirty-five millions, but for the next year it is understood that they will not go much beyond twenty millions.

ELECTION RIOTS IN ENGLAND.—It seems that the elections in Great Britain have been attended with a great deal of disorder; but that is no new thing, and we have no evidence, so far, that the riots and the fighting have been worse than a hundred times before. There has been unusual excitement about this contest, and a good many high-and-dry old tories, who believed that the reform bill would enthrone the mob, and whelm everything respectable in a flood of dirty democracy expected a general dirty democracy, expected a general letting loose of the disorderly classes of society. A good many heads have been cracked and windows broken, a score or so of shops and houses in different parts of the kingdom demo-lished, and one or two lives lost; but much worse things were done in times past, when there was no household suffrage. Elections, in fact, have always been conducted with more quiet and decorum in the United States, where the suffrage is nearly universal, than in Great Britain, where it has been greatly restricted, and the nearer England approaches to our system of popular government, the more smoothly she will find the exercise of the suffrage to work the suffrage to work.

was committed in that city the previous day, a brief account of which was telegraphed:

A terrible tragedy was enacted last evening at the North-east corner of Tenth and Pine-streets. An old lady named Mrs. Hill was found about 9 o'clock lying dead in the yard of the premises. The body was shockingly mutilated about the head, giving evidence of foul play, and was besides bruised, as though it had fallen some distance on to the ground. The corpse was discovered by the servant girl on returning from church, and as she was about making the house secure for the night. The girl giving

The Galveston (Texas) Civilian, of the 4th instant, makes the following statement: "Although it may be a matter of surprise to our readers, it is nevertheless true that Messrs. Heidenhemer & Co., of this city, have just received a consignment of cooling, direct from China. They coolies direct from China. They were shipped direct to this port under ordinary bills of lading, and are regarded by the firm as simple merchandize, to be sold for freight and charges. Two-thirds of these persons are females, one of whom is said to be very heautiful. They are to be to be very beautiful. They are to be disposed of at auction. In California and Mexico coolies are quite common, but this invoice, we believe, is the first ever received in Texas. What the result will be, remains to CHINA.—Advices from Hong Kong are to the 15th of October. Mr. of the unanimous opinion that a vile murder had been committed. Mrs. Hill was very wealthy, and it is supposed that the murderer or murderers hoped by this unholy means to obtain possession of her money. The social standing of the parties gives an especial interest to the case which, in the horrid distinctness of its details, has hardly, if ever, had a parallel in this city.

TREASURY ESTIMATES.—"Data." of year it is understood that they will not go much beyond twenty millions.

The Secretary's estimates for the receipts and expenditures for the coming fiscal year are based principally on the general average of those for the past nine months."

L. Reid, near Fishing Creek Church, together with eight or ten bales of cotton and fifty bushels of wheat, was destroyed by fire on Saturday night last. The burning is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

The Clevelond Plaindealer says that "Gen. Grant has written to Gen. Slocum, a Democratic member of Congress, recently elected in New York, intimating that "there will not probably be anything in the next Administration which a moderate Democrate may not support."

A MATTER OF INTEREST.

REV. Dr. Cumming, of London, says: "The assurance of life is one of the most Christian things that I know, for what is it? It is taking the load that would CRUSH ONE FAMILY and spreading it over twenty thousand families; so that a mere drop lights upon each, instead of the overwhelming torrent falling upou one. It seems to me a beautiful illustration of bearing one another's burdens. And, therefore, let every young man entering upon life, every head of a family, whether high or low, set his house in order so far as to assure his life."

Thousands of widows and orphans live to attest the divine beneficence of LIFE INSURANCE. Without its protecting ægis, many of them would, to-day, be beggars supon the streets, or occupants of poor-houses and pontentiaries. No man can foretell what will be his circumstances at the time of his death. The rich man of to-day dies the pauper of to-morrow, and the family, delicately reared, become the unprepared victims of dire Want, with her train of countless evils. Such a result is impossible, with a policy of Life Insurance. It, indeed, offers the only absolutely safe investment which can be made for the benefit of one's family and of his own old age. All other investments may result in loss or ruin. If all would insure, who can calculate the immense suffering and crime which the world would be spared!
